Executive Summary

This section provides an overview of the information contained within this report.

Significant growth and changing demographics within Cochrane and area has resulted in the evolution and expansion of local needs. Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review represents an opportunity for the Town of Cochrane to gain a clear understanding of the existing and future assets and needs in the community from the perspective of local residents and stakeholders.

The purpose of the project was to engage residents and stakeholders of the Town of Cochrane and area in identification of current assets, service gaps, opportunities, and priorities with regard to community services. This was a vehicle to support residents in the telling of their story; the sharing of their experience of living in and around Cochrane. The Town of Cochrane is committed to ensuring that all residents have access to effective programs and services that meet their social, recreational and community health needs and that in turn will contribute to a sustainable quality of life. The overall goal is to produce a comprehensive assessment for use by the community moving forward.

With previous community work serving as a foundational building block, a unique decentralized public engagement process was formulated that completed a comprehensive, varied and layered approach. From February 6 to March 28, 2017 the Town of Cochrane Family and Community Support Services (FCSS) undertook various engagement tactics that facilitated accessible consultation with a wide cross-section of residents and stakeholders in the community. Engagement tactics included online and paper surveys, focus groups, sound boards, event boards and interviews. Overall, over 1,200 Cochrane and area residents and stakeholders participated in the community engagement process.

Throughout the course of this public engagement process, several key issues and themes emerged as priorities across demographic groups and feedback channels. These included:

- The need for public transportation,
- Less traffic congestion,
- Need to enhance feelings of inclusion and belonging,
- 24 hour urgent care,
- Affordable and accessible counselling options,
- A continuum of housing for all stages of life and all income levels,
- Affordable recreation opportunities,
- 'Things to do' for youth ages 6-17,
- Employment, education and training opportunities, and
- Increased awareness of existing programs and services.

There was an overall satisfaction with programs and services for seniors and for families with young children. However, as the community continues to grow, and as residents age, it will be important to have these services keep pace so they are able to continue to meet the needs of the community. Many respondents stated that the wait times for services have increased and they believe organizations are already operating past their intended capacity. There was an expressed desire to have health care, housing, employment, education and training and recreation needs met in Cochrane. Accessibility, availability and affordability were a thread that ran through the engagement process, with particular concern around housing, transportation, childcare and recreation programs and services.

Using the feedback gathered through the engagement process, recommendations have been proposed around 15 key themes and areas:

- Community - Diversity & Inclusivity
- Crisis Services - Programs & Services
- Economic - Retail Services
- Employment, Education & Training - Link Jobseekers to Opportunities
- Health Care - Health Care Options
- Health Care - Mental Health Services
- Housing - Housing Options
- Recreation, Culture & Arts - Accessibility, Availability & Affordability
- Recreation, Culture & Arts - Leisure Opportunities for Youth
- Recreation, Culture & Arts - Link Business to Community Organizations
- Safety - Community Safety
- Seniors - Aging in Place
- Social Services - Social Services Information Hub
- Transportation - Transit & Alternatives
- Transportation - Walkability, Connectivity & Safety

The results of this work will provide a point of reference upon which decisions and priorities can be evaluated and monitored by the municipality over the next 3 to 5 years. It will serve to guide Town of Cochrane Council, Administration, FCSS and the FCSS Advisory Board in setting priorities, making decisions and monitoring and evaluating outcomes regarding available resources for Social Planning.

Armed with the knowledge and awareness of the key themes and areas as identified through the public engagement process, the Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review provides the community with recommendations that will initiate the development of a more detailed implementation plan. Cross-sectional planning, collaboration between community organizations and/or the business community and advocacy from local groups will aid in developing strategies to strengthen the well-being of Cochrane and area residents. Collectively, the community can utilize the possible strategies as potential solutions for a feasible, impactful path towards a 'made in Cochrane' plan.

The collective Call to Action is intended for use by residents and stakeholders alike as we move toward addressing identified key themes and areas of concern for Cochrane.

Introduction

This section includes an introduction to the Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review project.

The Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review is designed to engage residents of Cochrane and area in identifying current assets, gaps, opportunities and priorities with regard to their social, recreational and community health needs. The overall goal is to produce a comprehensive Community Assets and Needs Assessment for the Town of Cochrane to inform decisions regarding available resources over the next 3 to 5 years.

Through the use of online and paper surveys, focus groups, sound boards, event boards and interviews, the review provided residents and stakeholders with a variety of opportunities to tell their story and to share their experience of living in and around Cochrane. The process engaged residents in conversations about their needs related to social, recreational and health services and amenities in the community.

The Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review is intended to be a community action plan that will encourage residents and stakeholders (businesses, non-profits, community organizations, schools and the Town of Cochrane) to be active members in shaping Cochrane's social footprint.

PROJECT VISION

The Project Vision for the Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review reflects the following:

- The Town of Cochrane's commitment to ensuring that residents have access to effective programs and services that meet the social, recreational and community health needs that in turn contribute to a sustainable quality of life.
- Engagement that facilitates resident and stakeholder identification of the existing and future assets and needs upon which decisions and priorities can be guided, evaluated and monitored by the Town Council, Administration and the FCSS Board.

The Process

FOUNDATIONAL BUILDING BLOCKS

Previous Province of Alberta and Town of Cochrane legislation and policy serve as the Foundational Building Blocks of the plan.

The following section provides a summary of the relevant studies and significant work that has been done in the community related to the social sector. This work has been used as a building block to inform the Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-Being Review.

PROVINCE OF ALBERTA MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT ACT

The Municipal Government Act (MGA) is the legislative framework in which all municipalities and municipal entities in the Province of Alberta operate, including the Town of Cochrane Family and Community Support Services.

The MGA contains three major areas of focus:

1. Governance
2. Planning and Development
3. Assessment and Taxation

GOVERNMENT OF ALBERTA SOCIAL POLICY FRAMEWORK

Alberta's Social Policy Framework (February 2013) was initiated to help guide future direction of social policies and provision of related programs in the Province.

The strategic directions are driven by the following eight key transformational initiatives:

1. Early Childhood Development
2. Poverty Reduction Strategy
3. Common Service Access
4. Primary Health Care Initiatives
5. Results-based Budgeting
6. Partner with First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities
7. Safe Communities
8. 10-Year Plan to End Homelessness

Alberta's Social Policy Framework defines the key social policy roles of local governments such as the Town of Cochrane as follows:

- Promote the social, cultural, and economic well-being of local communities.
- Facilitate collaboration in their communities to respond to social issues or challenges that affect citizens.
- Champion the vision, principles, and outcomes of the social policy framework.

TOWN OF COCHRANE MUNICIPAL SUSTAINABILITY PLAN

The Cochrane Sustainability Plan (May 2009) took an integrated approach that framed the community through six systems — the built environment, culture, economy, governance, natural environment and social elements.

Through this lens, 13 Pathways to the Future were identified as follows:

We Build a Culture of Responsibility

1. We are a socially responsible and empowered community.

We are Responsible Citizens of the Planet

2. We treat water as a precious resource.
3. We use energy responsibly and innovatively.
4. We contribute to the solution on climate change.

We Live Locally

5. We consume the bounty of our local economy.
6. Our local economy is healthy and diverse.
7. Everyone has an opportunity to pursue their potential in Cochrane.
8. We are a caring community that lives and celebrates together.

Cochrane is a Complete Community

9. Everyone has a roof over their head.
10. There's enough room for everything a community should have.
11. Wherever you are in Cochrane, you're close and connected.
12. There are diverse options for getting around.
13. We build Cochrane on the strengths of our natural and cultural heritage.

TOWN OF COCHRANE SOCIAL MASTER PLAN

The Cochrane Social Master Plan (June 2009) was developed as a guiding document for the next 10 years to address the social needs of Cochrane and area residents by identifying priorities for community planning and decision-making.

Five priority areas were identified as follows:

1. Access to quality child care services
2. Youth engagement
3. Seniors' programs, involvement and support

4. Involvement of First Nations and other cultural groups
5. Quality of life

LET'S TOUCH THE SKIES REPORT

Let's Touch the Skies Report (June 2013) is a report that examined systemic barriers and region specific challenges to women's economic security in Cochrane and surrounding area.

The ten areas of concern cited are as follows:

1. Health
2. Family of Origin
3. Childcare
4. Credit and Financial Literacy
5. Housing
6. Education
7. Marital Breakdown and Domestic Violence
8. Transportation
9. Choices and Hope
10. Employment

TOWN OF COCHRANE SOCIAL POLICY

The Cochrane Social Policy (May 2016) is vital to this work because it explicitly states the intention to "complete a needs assessment every 3-5 years, subject to the annual budget process, to identify current and emergent issues for Town of Cochrane residents."

The reasons for the Social Policy are:

1. To signify the Town's commitment to understanding how the municipality's practices and service delivery can systemically impact the well-being of its residents and to acknowledge intersecting factors of environment, social and economic practices required to develop a complete community with strong, healthy individuals and families.
2. To utilize best practices to reduce and prevent inequalities in the community by creating a person-centred system of high quality services and programming for all residents of Cochrane.
3. To strengthen the trust, loyalty, and respect amongst municipal employees and residents by showing that Diversity is taken seriously, and there is a commitment to actions that improve Equity and Inclusion.
4. To best serve the dynamic and changing needs of the residents through innovative approaches that address significant demographic changes and challenges to sustainability.

5. To enhance strategic and coordinated planning of community agencies and Town Administration for land use, transit, public health, housing, culture and recreation and immigrant services, which will positively influence the quality of life and community well-being in Cochrane.
6. To use a place-based approach that incorporates local perspectives, knowledge and resources to provide coordinated, locally-relevant responses to issues that are seen to be too complex and long-term to have simple solutions implemented by any one stakeholder.
7. To recognize that social, economic, and environmental policies interact and complement each other (Triple Bottom Line).
8. To prioritize a balanced coordination of activities, programs and services that increase community and individual capacity, skills and resiliency.

COCHRANE AFFORDABLE HOUSING STRATEGY AND IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

The Cochrane Affordable Housing Strategy and Implementation Plan (September 2009) focused on the following themes:

1. Implementation and Monitoring
2. Enabling Public and Social Policy
3. Education and Advocacy
4. Planning Policies and Protocols
5. Land
6. Affordable Housing Development Capacity
7. Finances, Fees and Taxes

Options and Best Practices for Consideration included strategies around:

1. Education and Advocacy
2. Removing Barriers
3. Incentives
4. Requirements
5. Fees and Taxes
6. Provision of Municipal Land
7. Assistance to Non-Profit Housing Organizations
8. Municipal Housing Corporations
9. Direct Financial Approaches
10. Other Guiding Principles

TRENDS IN THE SOCIAL SECTOR

Over the past years, the demand for effective services to meet social, recreational and community health needs has both intensified and diversified. Alberta's Social Policy Framework identifies five key drivers of change with respect to the social sector in the Province. These pressures placed on society, communities and families are felt within the Town of Cochrane. The five key drivers of change in the context of Cochrane are:

1. Growing Complexity and the Need for Collaboration: Needs of individuals are growing in complexity as the population has increased rapidly and become more diverse. Cochrane faces unique socio-economic pressures from demographic groups such as youth, seniors, First Nations and newcomers. This requires a citizen-centred approach to establishing, operating and navigating services, as well as collaboration among organizations and agencies to provide services within Cochrane.
2. Increasing Cost of Living: Rapid increases in the cost of living and housing increase disparity among residents of Cochrane. Issues such as housing affordability, transportation accessibility, food security and social services availability have emerged in the community.
3. Increasing Economic Disparity: The gap between rich and poor is growing in Cochrane, and certain populations are facing health and/or social problems resulting from this inequality. This rising disparity diminishes social cohesion and challenges the idea of equal opportunity for success.
4. Changing Technology and Expectations of Government: Rapid changes in information technologies have created expectations amongst Cochrane residents that government services should be portable, user-driven and simple to administer. Residents want an open government that shares and communicates data with the public, and a system that gives everyone a greater voice in the decision making process.
5. Demographic Change: Significant demographic changes and challenges to sustainability are emerging in Cochrane as a result of rapid population growth, shifting immigration patterns and an aging baby boomer generation. These challenges are placing pressure on the cost, diversity, and types of services required by residents in the community.

BEST PRACTICES IN THE SOCIAL SECTOR

In Alberta, many Family and Community Support Services organizations rely heavily on partnerships. Partnerships in the provision of preventative social services are becoming more prevalent. These partnerships can involve multiple entities and include government, non-profit organizations, community agencies, schools and the private sector. The creation of partnerships can enhance service levels and more efficiently leverage public funds.

Cochrane and area benefits from strong, ongoing community partnerships. Some of the community partners include:

- Alberta Health Services
- Calgary Foothills Primary Care Network
- Cochrane Public Library
- Cochrane Society for Housing Options (FCSS)
- Cochrane Volunteer Centre (FCSS)

- Rocky View Employment Services
- Rocky View Immigrant Services (Calgary Catholic Immigration Society)
- Rocky View Schools
- Seniors on the Bow Society
- Town of Cochrane Communications
- Town of Cochrane Economic Development
- Town of Cochrane Family and Community Support Services
- Town of Cochrane Recreation, Culture and Arts
- United Way of Calgary and Area
- Western Rocky View Family and Community Resource Centre (FCSS)
- Western Rocky View Parent Link Centre (FCSS)
- Local stakeholders

Towns that exist near a large urban centre face unique demographic challenges. A significant portion of the adult population commutes to the city for work. This can lead the younger and older age groups to have a different experience of community life as their lives, for the most part, take place within town.

What We Heard

This section outlines the community engagement process, including what we did, who was involved and what we heard.

THE PROCESS

From February 6 to March 28, 2017 the Town of Cochrane Family and Community Support Services (FCSS) undertook a public engagement process to better understand existing community assets and needs from the perspective of residents and stakeholders.

Engagement tactics included online and paper surveys, focus groups, sound boards, event boards and interviews. Each tactic and tool allowed for various levels of depth of conversation. The online and paper survey allowed for the most in-depth exploration of community assets and needs. This was followed by the focus groups and interviews, which allowed us to explore the prominent themes heard in early engagement. The sound boards and event boards enabled us to meet people where they were at to ask them the most high level questions.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Over 1,200 Cochrane and area residents and stakeholders participated in community engagement. Multiple entry points into the conversation were available to all residents and stakeholders. The online and paper surveys were designed to help reduce barriers to participation. The focus groups and interviews were opportunities to create a deeper understanding of key issues and topics from those who have the most local knowledge. The sound boards and event boards increased the reach of participation.

Over 700 people responded to the survey, either through online or paper surveys. Of survey respondents, 79% were adults between 18 to 64 years of age, 17% were seniors over 65 years of age, and 4% were youth under 18 years of age. Of those survey participants, there were 89 rural participants residing outside of the Town of Cochrane. There were 225 sound board participants, 211 focus group participants, 116 event board participants and 8 interview participants.

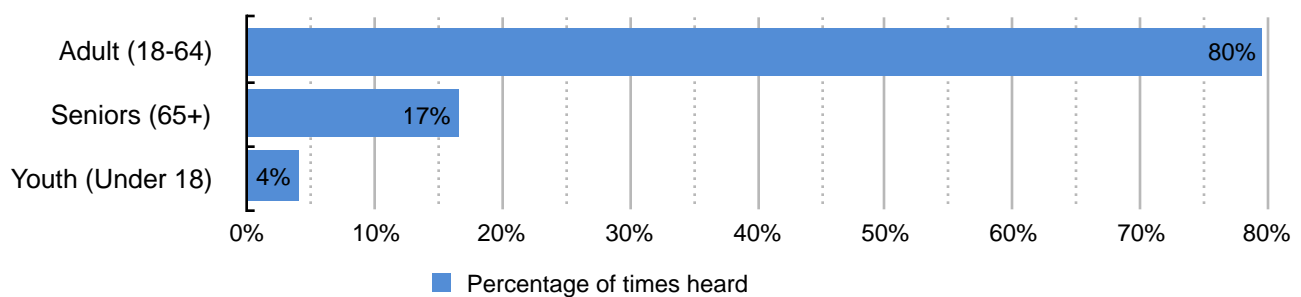

Participation by Engagement Tactic

Engagement Tactic	Participants	Participant Breakdown by Engagement Tactic
Survey *including partially completed surveys	707	Adult (18 - 64) - 561 Seniors (65+) - 117 Youth (under 18) - 28

Transportation surfaced as the most prominent issue for residents in Cochrane ranging from traffic congestion and road upkeep to lack of transit and community connectivity. Residents see a physical disconnect happening between the Town's various communities as well as between Cochrane and surrounding municipalities. The issue seems to stem from another common theme of residential growth. Many responses stated that the building of homes has outpaced transportation infrastructure.

Many people stated that their experience was that the growth of the community has occurred at a rate at which services such as transportation, affordable housing, programs, and health services have not been able to keep pace. Residents also stated that organizational capacity and cost have been impacted as the community grows. Programs and services seem to be more expensive and less accessible due to greater demand. Other common themes were crime (30), lack of well-paying and full-time employment (27), lack of walkability (21), and mental health and addictions (15).

Bringing more well-paying and full time jobs to Cochrane was the most common need expressed. Incentivizing business to open up in Cochrane is important to many. Others see post-secondary education, job training, and adult learning as having the most positive outcome for Cochrane. A lesser expressed theme, but quite prominent in terms of employment was the idea of promotion — communication and awareness, in particular — creating connections and lines of communication between potential employees and employers.

Although the amenity-based retailers provide Cochrane a much appreciated service, many see these shops as making up the majority of employment opportunities. This is negatively regarded due to the low wages and part-time hours associated with such service sector jobs. This inherently conflicts with the desire for Cochrane to have well-paying positions in professional and technical roles. Other, less common responses, included better urgent care (4) and improved internet/fibre optics (3).

How satisfied are you with the health care system in the community?

Over two-thirds (69%) of Cochraneites are very satisfied or satisfied with the health care system in the community. Overall, 17% reported being unsatisfied or very unsatisfied. Over three-quarters (78%) of seniors were very satisfied or satisfied, compared to 66% of adults.

Mental Health	-access to mental health care -shorter wait times for mental health appointments	28	“mental health support” “School counsellors and mental health providers are very thin on the ground” “Better access to mental health supports”

Although the existing Urgent Care Centre is regarded as an asset to Cochrane, many believe a hospital and/or 24 hour medical facility are needed in the Town. This coincides with the desire for more doctors and clinics, shorter wait times, and a greater level of resources going into Cochrane's health system. The medical system is also challenged by the increase in local and rural population.

Many respondents, both younger and older, mentioned prenatal and women's health care as a necessity for a family-oriented town like Cochrane. Additionally, quick and affordable access to mental health services and responsive care were commonly mentioned. Other themes included a desire for more senior and palliative care options (17) and health service education and awareness (9).

How satisfied are you with the housing options in Cochrane?

Over three-fifths (61%) of people reported being very satisfied or satisfied with the housing options in Cochrane, while 16% reported being unsatisfied or very unsatisfied. Responses from the adults and seniors surveys were similar for this question.

Additionally, social, cultural, sport and recreational activities surfaced as supporting a good quality of life in Cochrane. Having things to do outside of work, home and the daily commute seems inherently important to many residents.

Programs like Parent Link and gathering places like Seniors on the Bow were mentioned many times, which speaks to the value residents put on having spaces where they can come together, socialize, connect, share their experience and learn from one another. Cochraneites also see the benefit of their schools and local education system (12), parks and trails (6), and police and fire services (5).

Public transit emerged as a common thread throughout the engagement process. Transit surfaced as the most crucial service that the community is currently lacking. Residents indicated a desire to have both a local bus system, and a commuter system that links Cochrane to Calgary’s west end C-train stations.

The need for a hospital and 24 hour health care was also repeatedly mentioned in response to questions regarding service gaps for Cochrane. Despite recreation being an asset, many identified a need for activities that attract a more diverse age group and that are more affordable.

Activities and entertainment, mental health service, and arts and culture support also emerged as themes among the youth and senior population. Affordable and accessible things to do are at the top of the radar for these two demographics. In focus group conversations, this frequently came up, along with mental health service access and more gathering places for all ages.

Additional responses included off leash dog park (15), shopping (14), and increased police presence (11).

Most participants reported roads and traffic congestion as the most necessary improvement for bettering life in Cochrane, followed by providing public transit and slowing growth. Cochraneites spoke en masse about residential development outpacing that of other important community infrastructure. Transportation networks, activities and programs and public and private facilities are seen as needing to catch up with the number of people who have moved in, leaving some feeling underserved due to high demand.

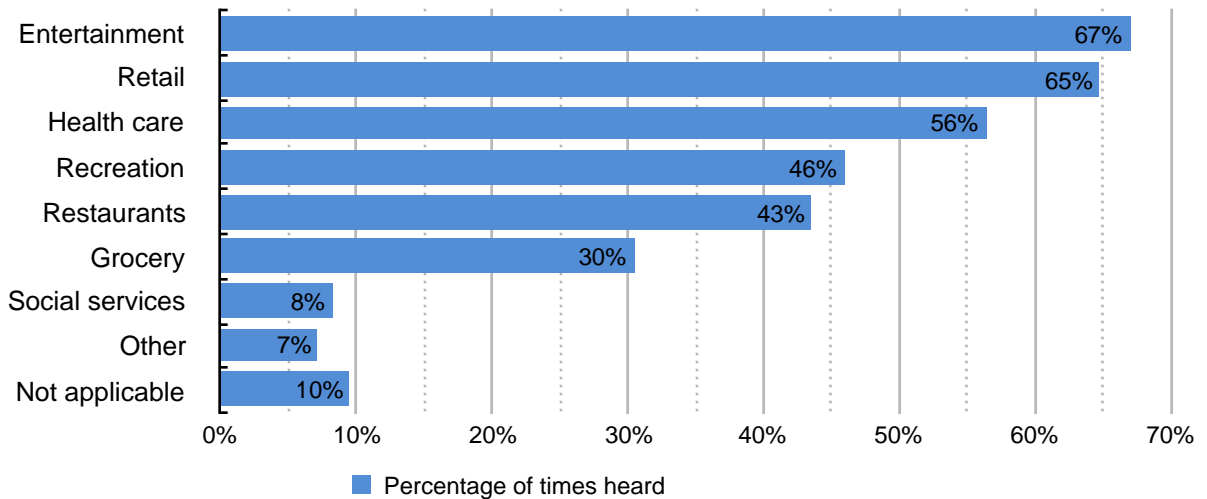

In focused conversations with youth and seniors there were many specific suggestions for activities and programs, as well as entertainment ideas to be explored. These included but were not limited to; a trampoline park, a museum or science centre, a youth only coffee shop, a performing and visual arts centre and a cultural centre. Other popular themes to arise from this question included more dog parks (27) and decreasing the isolation of some communities (15).

This theme carried over into the next most popular response which was 'expanding existing service capacity and resourcing'. Many current programs were mentioned as being at capacity, well loved and well attended.

Again, the need for better connection between communities whether by foot, bike, transit or vehicle was reported as requiring more attention. Others believed things are good as is and more spending is not necessary for improving and expanding programs. Ideas for youth and senior activity surfaced yet again. Other themes included the need for increased affordability in the areas of child care, recreation, programming and housing (21), and education — schools, bullying and volunteerism (11).

Mental health concerns for youth revolved around anxiety, suicide, and general lack of confidence. Bullying (17) was another key theme to surface from this question.

Moving Forward

This section outlines suggested actions that could address key issues that emerged during the community engagement process. This collective Call to Action is intended for use by residents and stakeholders alike as we move toward addressing identified key themes and areas of concern for Cochrane and area residents.

Community Diversity & Inclusivity

CONTEXT

A greater need for inclusion and diversity was a common theme that residents identified as preventing them from participating in volunteering, community events and public meetings.

PREFERRED FUTURE

All Cochrane and area residents feel welcome, included, and have a sense of belonging with every opportunity to participate in civic life.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Develop a Community Engagement Strategy that asks questions such as:
 - How do you want to be engaged?
 - How do you want us to work with you?
 - What do you want/need for supports?
2. Continue work on the development of an Equity & Inclusion Toolkit that can be shared locally and that includes strategies to:
 - Invite marginalized groups and individuals to attend volunteer opportunities, community events and public meetings.
 - Make diversity and inclusion part of the community conversation (Example: elected officials leading targeted communication).
 - Implement a community awareness campaign regarding diversity and inclusion.
 - Encourage employers, local non-profit organizations, agencies and decision-making committees to offer sensitivity training in their environment.
3. Encourage residents and stakeholders to ensure that consideration of diversity is a part of activities, programs and events.
4. Focus on education and awareness regarding diversity and inclusion.
5. Encourage local schools to enhance inclusion and diversity education and awareness.
6. Provide in-service training for local employers on inclusion and diversity awareness in the workplace.
7. Raise awareness of and promote opportunities for community stakeholders to uphold their sector specific 2015 Truth & Reconciliation Calls to Action. Consult with local Aboriginal peoples to gain a better understanding of their needs.

Crisis Services Programs & Services

CONTEXT

The need for an increase in crisis programs and services was mentioned repeatedly throughout the focus groups and interviews; particularly crisis housing for those impacted by family violence, including adults, youth and children, similar services for youth living outside their family home, as well as crisis services for individuals and families impacted by acute mental health concerns.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Local solutions to meet the crisis needs of the community.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Development of a comprehensive Collaborative Community Response that includes public awareness, education, crisis services, intervention services, emergency and transitional shelter and access to affordable trauma focused individual and family therapy. Collaboration could include Victims Services, Alberta Health Services Mental Health and Addictions, RCMP, Community Resource Centre, schools, employers, faith groups and service groups to name a few.
2. Continue to offer transportation services to local and regional services for those in crisis.
3. Create partnerships with the local business community to assist in meeting basic needs of those in crisis, including emergency housing, supports for subsidized counselling, lock change and cell phones.
4. Enhance awareness of what currently exists and increase the level of information that is available:
 - Create an app/website where local organizations can list their local emergency programs and services, and people can access available information and resources to support them during their time in need.
5. Enhance 211 services and educate stakeholders to use it.

POTENTIAL LONG-TERM GOALS

1. Domestic violence crisis services, including emergency and transitional shelter and outreach services.
2. Emergency and transitional shelter/housing for adults experiencing homelessness.
3. Youth hostel/youth housing and supportive independent living.
4. More outreach programs to address basic and long-term needs.

Economic Retail Services

CONTEXT

In the survey, the majority of residents identified a greater need for diversification in the entertainment and retail sectors. Currently residents travel outside of Cochrane to access these services on a regular basis.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Cochrane has a diverse and vibrant business and non-profit community able to meet local need for choice, accessibility, and affordability.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

- I. Update and create awareness of the Cochrane Economic Development Strategy, which includes the following strategic objectives:
 - Improve Cochrane's business environment
 - Increase Cochrane's economic diversity
 - Maintain Cochrane's quality of place

Employment, Education & Training

Link Jobseekers to Opportunities

CONTEXT

With respect to employment, education and training in Cochrane, the need for more businesses and more jobs was the top concern identified in the survey. There is a need to diversify low skilled employment opportunities, and not just in the hospitality and retail sectors. Respondents said that there is a need for increased local employment opportunities that lead to more professional positions.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Link unemployed, underemployed and underutilized jobseekers to employment, education and training.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Develop a formal program that creates meaningful job opportunities by connecting local employers and those who are underemployed in the community.
2. Promote local youth/student job hiring through an online job board such as StudentHire. This job board promotes connecting local students with valuable job and volunteer experience in the community.
3. Create an online space, such as a Facebook page, that promotes local training and education opportunities, employment, volunteering, life skills and financial literacy skills training.
4. Have conversations between local schools, businesses, employment agencies, Alberta Works, Volunteer Cochrane (FCSS) and students in Cochrane to encourage youth job and volunteer opportunities.
5. Establish and/or enhance pre-employment supports and co-op work programs.
6. Encourage conversations between employment agencies and businesses in Cochrane to encourage the hiring of underutilized talent, such as recent university or college graduates, persons with disabilities, Aboriginal peoples, retirees, etc.
7. Encourage greater representation of the business community in local non-profit boards, committees and other volunteer opportunities.
8. Support creation of flexible, affordable, accessible child care for those attending training programs or employment outside of traditional work hours.

Health Care

Health Care Options

CONTEXT

The need for 24/7 urgent care was frequently identified throughout the engagement process. This emerged as one of the top concerns for respondents. In focus groups, youth specifically identified the limited hours of the sexual health and pregnancy clinic as a concern. Adults expressed a desire to have mammography and ultrasound services available in Cochrane.

6. Establish hospice beds for Cochrane and area residents within their own community.
7. Establish a flexible clinic in Cochrane Health Centre that alternates topics to provide specialized health services a few days per month such as: Asthma, Paediatric, Women's Health, etc.

Health Care

Mental Health Services

CONTEXT

The accessibility and affordability of mental health and addictions services, particularly for youth and families, was a key health care system concern identified in the engagement process. Awareness and stigma were also identified as barriers to residents seeking out mental health and addictions support.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Affordable and accessible mental health services for all.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Increase accessibility of on-site mental health services through schools, senior facilities, youth groups and employers.
2. Look to schools to provide more outreach and counselling to students and their families. Also enhance mental health and addictions services in the schools, such as through an addictions counsellor.

Housing

Housing Options

CONTEXT

In the survey, affordable housing and subsidized housing were identified as community needs. In the focus groups, a desire for more information about the housing options available in the community was identified. With the high cost of housing as a concern and without awareness of local housing options, some people struggle with housing affordability, especially low income households, persons with disabilities and seniors.

PREFERRED FUTURE

A complete community with safe, accessible, affordable housing for all.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Develop a user friendly online central registry that has all housing related information, including definitions for all housing types, all available rental housing in the community, applications and contact information to obtain affordable and subsidized housing supports.
2. Continue to strengthen relationships between local housing developers, residents and community.
3. Continue to encourage basement suites and secondary suites in the community.
4. Bring awareness to the standards for providing safe and clean rental housing units.
5. Continue to work with local housing developers to provide subsidies or incentives for creating certain housing options.
6. Collaboration between Cochrane Society for Housing Options, local housing developers, businesses, non-profit groups, Alberta Health Services and all three levels of government to develop:
 - More affordable and/or subsidized housing units,
 - Special purpose housing (Examples: wheelchair accessible, shared accommodation, etc.),
 - Emergency housing (Examples: Domestic Violence Shelter; Youth Shelter; etc.),
 - Youth hostel, and
 - Hospice and palliative care.
7. Raise awareness of gaps and priorities within the Cochrane housing continuum.
8. Enhance supports for the hard to house population in Cochrane (Example: mental health issues, addictions, loss of job, etc.).

Recreation, Culture & Arts

Accessibility, Availability & Affordability

CONTEXT

Improved accessibility, availability, and affordability of recreation, arts and culture activities and programs were frequently identified in the engagement process as services that would improve quality of life in Cochrane.

PREFERRED FUTURE

5. Raise awareness of the Cochrane Events Facebook Page that connects local residents and stakeholders and advertises community events.
6. Consult with local Community Associations about offering organized or drop-in opportunities in neighbourhoods.
7. Consult with target groups (youth, seniors, parents, etc.) to gain a better understanding of their needs.

Recreation, Culture & Arts

Leisure Opportunities for Youth

CONTEXT

Increased variety and frequency of leisure opportunities was identified by youth as the most desired service needed to improve their quality of life. Youth frequently mentioned that fun, organized, affordable recreation, arts and culture opportunities for their age group are lacking in the community. Improved access to these services could help youth stay busy, which could potentially assist in addressing some of their social issues.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Accessible and affordable recreation, arts and culture programs and services for youth.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Involve businesses, schools, and community organizations to support increased opportunities for recreation, arts and culture for youth.
2. Find free venues for youth to hang out in the evenings and on weekends.
3. Offer more organized, affordable indoor events and outdoor spaces for youth with washroom facilities.
4. Create an arts and culture hub that utilizes existing or new space and involves youth and seniors working together (Example: partnership between local schools and Seniors on the Bow for arts and culture).
5. Work with the schools, Town of Cochrane Recreation, Arts and Culture and youth to establish weeknight and weekend programming opportunities.

Recreation, Culture & Arts

Link Business to Community Organizations

CONTEXT

Cochrane businesses are looking for more opportunities to connect with and contribute to their local community. This trend was identified throughout the focus groups.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Link Cochrane businesses with local organizations, agencies and groups.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Establish a committee to connect the businesses and community organizations within Cochrane. Utilize the committee to establish needs of the non-profit/community organizations that could be addressed through partnerships with the local business community.
2. Use existing or new communication tools for local businesses to advertise available space or other resources they may have and for local organizations, agencies and groups to post their venue or other assistance needs for their activities and programs.
3. Communicate social community needs to businesses in order to encourage their involvement in solutions and increase their knowledge of the needs of their workers and their families.

Safety

Community Safety

CONTEXT

Safety was the top concern identified in the survey with respect to safe and secure housing in Cochrane.

PREFERRED FUTURE

A safe and resilient community.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Establish a safety committee to explore the issue further.
2. Develop a Community Safety Strategy.
3. Support the enhancement of Community Associations and other grassroots programs that create connections at the neighbourhood level and that make it more difficult for crime to increase.
4. Strengthen community relationships with local RCMP.

Seniors

Aging in Place

CONTEXT

Aging in place was identified as a key concern for older adults and seniors in the focus groups, in part because Cochrane has limited assisted living and long-term care capacity. In order for residents to stay in their homes as they age, an expansion of services is needed.

PREFERRED FUTURE

A complete community with necessary supports for seniors to age in place.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Develop a range of vital services to assist seniors to remain in their homes (Examples: handyman services, snow shovelling, landscaping, grocery shopping, etc.).
2. Develop partnerships among organizations who could assist in meeting these needs (Examples: Helping Hands Society of Cochrane & Area, StudentHire, Seniors on the Bow, Family and Community Support Services, Alberta Health Services, care facilities, etc.)
3. Expand and promote services available to seniors in Cochrane.
4. Develop programs and services that reach isolated seniors and newcomers.

Social Services

Social Services Information Hub

CONTEXT

The level of resident awareness of social services in the community was a concern that was raised often during the focus groups and interviews. Many people are not aware of the number of social programs and services currently offered in the community.

PREFERRED FUTURE

Access to agency, service, and program information.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Creation of a website with access to information about wrap around services in the community, and further development of such systems as 211.
2. Develop a campaign to reduce the stigma associated with seeking help.
3. Promote local and regional programs and services.
4. Establish a network of avenues for first point of contact for individuals in need of community social programs and services. "Every door is the 'right' door."

Transportation Transit & Alternatives

CONTEXT

Public transit is the number one service residents would like to see developed in Cochrane. Establishing alternatives to service for Cochranites in need of transportation will improve overall quality of life in the community.

PREFERRED FUTURE

A community with a variety of public transportation options.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Develop local and regional transit.
2. Offer local transportation with subsidized rates for marginalized residents.
3. Discuss a plan with Uber to provide individuals in need of regional transportation with subsidized rates.
4. Promote a ridesharing-transit pilot program in and around the local community.
5. Consider other ride share programs.

Transportation

Walkability, Connectivity & Safety

CONTEXT

Cochrane's pathways and trail system are one of the things people like most about living in Cochrane, yet many people in the engagement process identified walkability, connectivity and safety as an area in need of improvement. Creating a more pedestrian friendly and less car focused community would also help alleviate some of the transportation pressures facing Cochrane.

PREFERRED FUTURE

A walkable community that is connected and safe for pedestrians, cyclists and drivers.

POSSIBLE STRATEGIES

1. Build more accessible sidewalks and crosswalks to connect all neighbourhoods within Cochrane.
2. Upgrade path system to ensure it is well-lit and safe with snow free access for walking, cycling, stroller and/or wheelchair use.
3. Promote and expand Cochrane's pathways and trail system.
4. Create an interactive map of the trail system to ensure ease of use.
5. Develop an online and paper 'Report a Problem' forum to gather feedback from residents and users regarding specific path and trail areas in need of improvements.
6. Encourage the use of bike lanes and consider a bike share program throughout Cochrane.

LOOKING FORWARD: OUR SHARED FUTURE

Cochrane is a community that has experienced significant growth over the past several years. It appears that trend will continue, as population is expected to grow from 26,320 in 2017 to 36,954 by 2036.⁸ According to residents, in order to meet the needs of the current and future population of Cochrane, there are expectations around what is considered to be necessary services and expected service levels.

Throughout the course of the engagement process, several key issues emerged as a priority across demographic groups. These included the need for:

- Public transportation (transit),
- Less traffic congestion,
- Need to enhance feelings of inclusion and belonging,
- 24 hour urgent care,
- Affordable and accessible counselling options,
- A continuum of housing for all stages of life and all income levels,
- Affordable recreation opportunities,
- 'Things to do' for youth ages 6-17,
- Employment, education and training opportunities, and
- Increased awareness of existing programs and services.

Addressing transportation could potentially help in addressing several of the other key concerns of residents. For example, if a public transit system were created:

- Youth would be able to get to activities without relying on parents or other drivers,
- Traffic congestion may be decreased, and
- Seniors and other residents with mobility challenges in the community might feel less isolated and have a greater sense of belonging if able to get to events, programs, services, and/or appointments.

There was an overall satisfaction with programs and services for seniors and for families with young children. However, as the community continues to grow, and as residents age, it will be important to have these services keep pace so they are able to continue to meet the needs of the community. Many respondents stated that the wait times for services have increased and they believe organizations are already operating past their intended capacity.

There was an expressed desire to have personal health care needs met in Cochrane. This included:

- A family doctor,
- Affordable mental health services,

⁸Population growth scenarios are developed based on Applications Management Consulting's in-house population forecasting model. The Medium Scenario projected 36,954 by 2036.

- Specialist services, and
- Palliative and end of life supports.

The community spoke clearly on these issues.

Residents were also clear about wanting to be able to age in place and to have housing options for all stages of life regardless of income. Cochrane residents stated a need for:

- Emergency housing for those impacted by domestic violence.
- A youth hostel/supportive housing.
- Affordable seniors housing, and
- Housing for adults with different abilities.

Affordability was a thread that ran through many of the focus group discussions and was indicated as a concern by survey respondents. Some areas of life that are impacted by affordability include:

- Housing (Examples: rent, utilities, etc),
- Transportation (Example: school bus fees),
- Childcare costs, and
- Recreation program fees and membership registration costs.

The youth who participated in the survey and in focus groups were clear about their needs. They want to:

- Get to activities without depending on parents or other drivers.
- Be able to find an after school job,
- Have programs and activities designed for their age group. Focus group participants stated that there are many opportunities for children 0-6 and plenty of family activities, but not a lot that is specific to for 6-12 and 13-17 age groups.
- Have places to hang out with their friends that are affordable.
- Have a mall. Focus group participants thought that having a local mall would provide them with employment opportunities, a place to hang out, and allow them to purchase their clothing in their own community.
- Have arts and culture activity options. Many stated that they are not athletes but love the arts and would like opportunities to participate in performing and/or visual arts.

Cochrane residents are serviced by a wide array of social service agencies at the local, provincial and federal levels. While it is not unusual for people to be unaware of a service until they themselves are in need, the level of awareness of the services of local providers could be enhanced. Greater awareness of services would likely contribute to enhanced efficiency in people accessing programs and services during times of need.

A COLLECTIVE CALL TO ACTION

In addressing the expressed needs of the community of Cochrane, it is important that prior to moving forward, clarity is developed and that potential solutions are 'made in Cochrane' and include the following:

A clear understanding of the issue –

It is important that we understand the breadth and depth of an issue before we can even begin to address it. We need to clarify what was meant by resident responses. Some questions that can be asked are:

- How has the issue manifested itself in Cochrane and area?
- Who is it impacting? How?
- Is this an emerging or ongoing concern?
- Is this issue complex and interconnected with others (Example: mental health & addictions)?
- Are there existing programs and services in place to address the issue?
- What does the most recent research say about potential causes and interventions?
- Is this issue in urgent need of being addressed now?

A clear understanding of organizational roles and responsibilities for a given issue –

Most organizations have clear mandates that state the boundaries of their work. Do they work in the area of health, education, recreation, or social services? Are they restricted to providing services that are specifically preventative? Or do they provide intervention and/or crisis services? Do they only provide services to a specific demographic such as seniors, women or newcomers? To gain a greater understanding of the potential roles and responsibilities of local organizations in addressing a given issue, the following is a brief list of possible questions we can ask:

- Which organization's mandate does this expressed concern fall within?
- Of those organizations identified, who has the capacity to take a lead role?
- Are there opportunities to work in partnership?
- Who else should be around the table in support of this issue?
- Are there community members with lived experience who could contribute to the conversation?

A clear understanding of community assets –

Cochrane has several assets that it will be able to leverage in addressing needs as expressed by the community. These include:

- Engaged citizens,
- Passionate volunteer base,
- Organizations with experience in working in partnership,
- A desire to collaborate,

- A strong Interagency group with a membership exceeding 90 agencies and service providers who are invited to bi-monthly meetings for the purpose of networking and sharing about their current and upcoming programs and services,
- Local organization strengths such as strong leadership, strategic thinking, policy development, advocacy, and grant writing, to name a few,
- A strong faith community, and
- A business community keen on 'giving back' and supporting local initiatives.

A clear goal for the community –

Once there is a clear and shared understanding of the issue, stakeholders can work together to set achievable and measurable short, medium and long term goals that are specific to the needs of Cochrane and area residents.

A clear road map –

How are we going to get there from here? This is a common question asked by communities as they attempt to address a specific issue or concern. It is recommended that stakeholders work collectively to develop strategies to achieve the agreed upon desired outcomes. Some examples of overarching documents that could be developed to inform, focus, and guide the work of the Town of Cochrane and its service providing organizations are:

- A Community Engagement Strategy,
- A Community Safety Strategy,
- An Affordability Strategy,
- An Equity and Inclusion Toolkit,
- An Alcohol and Drug Strategy, and
- An updated Economic Development Strategy.

Clear Priorities –

It is not possible to address every issue at once. As this document is intended to inform the work of Social Planning and Cochrane's service provider community over the next 3 to 5 years, it is recommended that priorities be set. Explore each issue and ask if there is any other expressed need that must be addressed prior to another, or that needs to be addressed simultaneously. Are there any quick wins? Which issues will require the greatest amount of time and resources?

END NOTE

This Call to Action has been developed to provide the community with a feasible, impactful path toward addressing some of the key themes identified during the engagement process of the Cochrane Cares: A Regional Well-being Review. Cross-sectional planning, collaboration between community organizations and/or the business community, and advocacy from local groups will aid in developing strategies to strengthen the well-being of Cochrane and area residents.
